Transition from Investment phase to harvesting phase

Revenues are expected to grow at a CAGR of 37.6% between FY13-15

THEAL's revenue has grown at a CAGR of ~74.9% from INR 213.8mn in FY10 to INR 1.14bn in FY13; the growth was primarily on account of pre-school center expansion. Going forward, we have estimated THEAL's revenue to grow at a CAGR of 37.6% between FY13-15 aided by pre-school expansion and improvement in the revenue per self-operated center.

12 November 2013

THEAL likely to turn FCF positive from FY14

Due to the massive investments in K-12 business, company had negative free cash flows until FY13. Going forward, the capex spend is likely to moderate, as there are no major scheduled capex investment in the K-12 segment. Furthermore, sizable pre-school base and ramp up in the K-12 business will help the company to turn FCF positive from FY14 onwards.

Dividend Payout is likely to increase

Company is paying dividend for the last two years and In FY13, THEAL's dividend payout stood at 13.5%. As the company is likely to turn FCF positive, coupled with disinvestment of K-12 assets and margin expansion are likely to result in higher dividend payout. We have estimated the dividend payout to increase to 21.53% in FY14 & FY15.

Outlook & Valuation

We have valued THEAL using DCF. In the growth phase (FY14-19) we have modeled a sales growth of ~30.6% CAGR and operating cash flow growth of ~29% CAGR. In the terminal growth phase we have modeled a perpetual growth of 4%. We have discounted the future cash flows using WACC of 14.7% to arrive at a target price of INR 361 per share, which is 26.7X and 19.8X of FY14 and FY15 EPS of INR 13.5 and INR 18.2 respectively and we rate THEAL as a BUY. Risk: Slower ramp up in the pre-school will hurt sales growth and profitability. Delay in monetizing the K-12 asset poses a serious threat to the return ratio and valuation. Low entry barriers resulting in higher competition from existing and new players.

Industry overview:

The education sector in India is broadly classified into two categories i.e. formal education and informal education. Formal education includes K-12 and higher education which is highly regulated and falls under the purview of Ministry of Human Resources Development. Further, formal educational institutes in India should be a not-for-profit entity operated either by trusts, societies or companies under section-25 of the Indian Companies Act.

Informal education includes; pre-school, vocational training, coaching classes and ancillary education. While formal education is highly regulated, informal education is not regulated and presents a lucrative opportunity for private players to manage capacity and charge higher fees.

Chart 1: Overview of Indian Education Sector

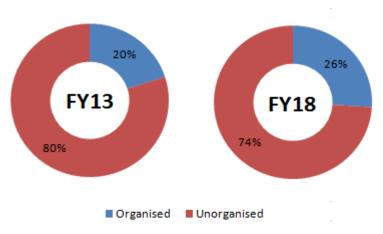

Source: CSEC Research

Pre-schooling in India is in the nascent stage, underpenetrated and constitutes a meager share in the total educational spending. It is estimated that the penetration level of pre-school in India is limited to 10-15% of the total urban population in the 2-4 years age bracket. The under-penetration of pre-school in India presents a huge opportunity for growth.

The Pre-school industry in India is largely fragmented and unorganized; with unorganized player accounting for 80% of the industry. However the skewness is expected to move slightly towards the organized sector from 20% in FY13 to 26% in FY18 largely due to the entry of more organized players and large scale expansion from the existing organized players.

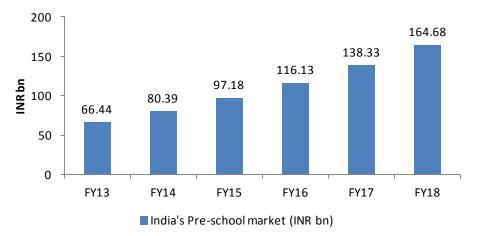

Chart 2: Break-up of Pre-school Market share

Source: Crisil Research, CSEC Research

Currently, the size of the Pre-school industry is estimated at INR 66.44bn (FY13) accounting for 1.7% of total educational spend. In the last three years, the industry has grown at 15% CAGR in value terms. According to Crisil estimate, preschool market in India is estimated to grow at a CAGR of 20% between FY13-18 to reach INR 164.68bn. The growth would be aided by rapid urbanization, growing per-capita income and increasing awareness about the importance of pre-schooling.

Business Model

Company follows self-operated pre-school model as its primary strategy for organic growth and expansion, while most of its peers follow franchise model for growth and expansion. Though the scalability is faster in the franchise model, maintaining the quality of education and uniformity across centers remains a key challenge. Company has stringent screening process to filter the franchisee application and it emphasis on the quality franchisee addition, which is evident from franchised pre-school expansion lagging behind the company operated pre-schools. Between FY10-2QFY14, company operated pre-schools has grown from 85 pre-schools to 322 pre-schools, while the franchised pre-schools has grown from 51 pre-schools to 104 pre-schools. Most of the franchisee addition is restricted to the tier III & IV cities, while company focuses its expansion in the tier I & II cities.

THEAL charges relatively higher franchise fee compared to its competitors.

Investment Rationale

Scalable Business Model

THEAL operates in an industry which provides natural scalability benefits as the pre-school industry in India is still under penetrated and at the nascent stage of development. The quality education is always in demand. It is widely perceived that franchise model is easily scalable relative to the self-operated model. However, maintaining the quality & uniformity in the education is extremely difficult in the franchise model which is a critical success factor for sustainable long term growth.

Source: Company, CSEC Research

Company has handled this balance commendably by expanding primarily through the self-operated business model. THEAL has expanded its presence from 12 pre-school in FY07 to 426 pre-schools (322 - self operated schools) in 2QFY14 without compromising on the profitability. In FY13, 87.8% of its centers are profitable, up from 83.2% in FY12. Further examination reveals that centers opened up to 2011 are all profitable, 84% of centers opened in 2012 are profitable and 52% of the centers opened in 2013 are profitable.

The huge scale of self-operated pre-schools gives a strong bargaining power to the company and helps in managing costs better than its peers (both organized and unorganized players) resulting in relatively lower cost per branch compared to its peers, who primarily operate under franchise model. Ceteris paribus, self-operated pre-schools are highly profitable compared to franchise operated school, as the self operated schools don't incur royalty expense (15% of the fee income) nor it has to buy teaching equipments and education kit from franchisor at a hefty premium. In addition to this, since most THEAL's pre-schools are owned by the company, they are able to undercut competition on fees as competitors primarily operate through the franchise route and this gives THEAL an edge. These traits act as an economic moat for the self operated pre-schools in addition to the generic advantages of this business model.

Transition from Investment phase to harvesting phase

In the last five years (between FY09-13) company has invested INR 3.56bn for expansion, which is 135% of the cumulative sales during the same period. These investments were largely channelized in to the expansion of pre-school network, acquiring business commercial rights (BCR) in 12 K-12 schools, security deposit to K-12 schools and investment in to fixed assets of the K-12 school. Company has so far invested ~INR 1.88bn (~42.4% of company's total asset – FY13) in the K-12 business. Due to these massive investments in K-12 business, company had negative free cash flows until FY13. Going forward, the capex spend is likely to moderate, as there are no major scheduled capex investment in the K-12 segment. Furthermore, sizable pre-school base and ramp up in the K-12 business will help the company to turn FCF positive from FY14 onwards.

Disinve stment of K-12 assets will improve return ratio

Despite, pre-school being an asset light business, the company's return ratio was dented because of the huge investment in the low-return K-12 business. Company has so far invested ~INR 1.88bn (~42.4% of company's total asset – FY13). Company is cognizant of this and decided to make the K-12 business asset light by progressively divesting the investments in the K-12 (deposits to trusts, Investment in JV and investment in fixed assets of 3 schools) over the next few years.

In FY13, we have estimated the asset turnover of K-12 school to be around ~0.04X, while the pre-schools asset turnover is estimated at 0.41X. However, with this progressive divesting the asset turnover of K-12 is likely to improve to 0.1X in FY15. The improvement in asset turnover coupled with margin expansion will result in improvement in the return ratio, with RoE and RoCE likely to increase from 11.1% & 15.5% in FY13 to 16.3% & 23.3% in FY15.

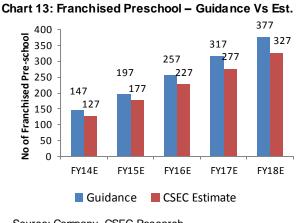

Aggressive growth plans to spur revenue momentum

Crisil has estimated the pre-school market will grow at a CAGR of 20% to reach INR 164.68bn in FY18 from INR 66.44bn in FY13. In order to capitalize the growth opportunity in the pre-school market, THEAL has chalked an aggressive expansion plan to triple its pre-school centers over the next five years from 379 in FY13 to 1,262 by FY18. The expansion would be through a combination of self-operated and franchise model. Out of the 883 new pre-schools, 585 would be self-operated centers and 298 would be franchise centers. Management has indicated that it would expand its franchise network through its recently acquired "Brainworks" brand, while the self-operated centers would be expanded using the "Tree House" brand.

However, we are slightly conservative in our pre-school center expansion assumption and have estimated 750 new centers over the next five years (FY14-18) i.e. 85% of the company guidance.

Forward Integration into K-12 segment

THEAL has achieved forward integration by foraying into K-12 segment by offering management services to the K-12 schools. In FY13, THEAL has been providing management service to 24 K-12 schools in 3 states (Maharashtra - 11, Gujarat - 2 & Rajasthan - 11) and it is likely to increase to 26 K-12 schools in FY14. Strategically, THEAL has strong presence in the Western India in the pre-school segment which complements the K-12 business, as the pre-school will act as a feeder stock to the K-12 schools. Moreover, K-12 segment have inherited advantages over the pre-school business such as stable revenue stream. Between FY09-13, the revenue from K-12 segment has grown ~8X from INR11mn in FY10 to INR 83.7mn in FY13 and it is estimated to grow at a CAGR of 42.7% to INR 243.4mn in FY16.

Financials

Revenues are expected to grow at a CAGR of 37.6% between FY13-15

THEAL's revenue has grown at a CAGR of ~74.9% from INR 213.8mn in FY10 to INR 1.14bn in FY13; the growth was primarily on account of pre-school center expansion. In FY13, revenues from pre-schools account for ~93% of the total revenue, while remaining 7% comes from K-12 segment. Revenue per self-operated center has increased from INR 1.67mn in FY10 to INR 3.24mn in FY13. Going forward, we have estimated THEAL's revenue to grow at a CAGR of 37.6% between FY13-15 aided by pre-school expansion and improvement in the revenue per self operated center. We have factored in a 191 center (self-operated) expansion between FY13-15 and revenue per self-operated centers to increase from INR 3.24mn in FY13 to INR 3.72mn in FY15.

Scope for EBITDA margin expansion

Source: Company, CSEC Research

Between FY10-13, the EBITDA margin of THEAL has expanded from 32.84% in FY10 to 54.1% in FY13. The margin expansion was primarily on account of scale improvement coupled with increase in revenue per center. Revenues per center increased from INR 1.56mn in FY10 to INR 2.79mn in FY13.

Going forward, we expect EBITDA margin to expand by 40bps to 54.5% in FY15 aided by further improvement in scale, higher revenue per center and higher revenue contribution from franchise income & K-12 business. We expect the revenue per center to increase from INR 2.79mn in FY13 to INR 2.99mn in FY15. The share of franchise income is expected to increase from 0.8% in FY13 to 1.5% in FY15. The revenue share from K-12 business is expected to increase from 7.3% in FY13 to 7.8% in FY15.

Dividend Payout is likely to increase

Company is paying dividend for the last two years and In FY13, THEAL's dividend payout stood at 13.5%. As the company is likely to turn FCF positive, coupled with disinvestment of K-12 assets and margin expansion are likely to result in higher dividend payout. We have estimated the dividend payout to increase to 21.53% in FY14 & FY15.

Valuation

We have valued THEAL using DCF. In the growth phase (FY14-19) we have modeled a sales growth of ~ 30.6% CAGR and operating cash flow growth of ~29% CAGR. In the terminal growth phase we have modeled a perpetual growth of 4%.

Risk:

- Slower ramp up in the pre-school will hurt sales growth and profitability.
- Delay in monetizing the K-12 asset poses a serious threat to the return ratio and valuation.
- Limited operating track record in the K-12 poses a challenge, coupled with regulatory risk in the K-12 segment
- Low entry barriers resulting in higher competition from existing and new players
- Geographical concentration risk: ~45% of the Pre-school are located in Maharashtra
